—Industry Responsibility Stressed—
'Revitalized' Housing Program Is Presented To Eisenhower

... 40-Year Mortgages Without Down Payments Asked

WASHINGTON (AP)—A massive 52-point blue print for a "new and revitalized" housing program, emphasizing industry's responsibility to shelter low-income families, Tuesday was handed to President Eisenhower. The President's 23-member Advisory Committee on Government Housing Policy submitted its report through Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole, chairman. Highlights included:

Many liberalizations of federal housing administration mortgage insurance, including 40-year mortgages on low-cost homes without a down payment. These could make the monthly payments lower than rent. At present such mortgages must be paid off in 30 years, at the most. A lease-and-purchase plan to encourage the building of rental dwellings which tenants could buy when their incomes went up.

Continued public housing; also direct federal loans and grants for slum prevention as well as slum clearance, through a new "urban renewal" program.

Liberalized repair loans—up to $3,000 over five years—to help owners rehabilitate their homes.

Equality in FHA financing between old and new houses—meaning as little as 5 per cent down and 30 years to pay on used houses.

The full report, an inch and a half thick, was prefaced by a statement of basic policy declaring in part:

"It is the conviction of this

Local Real Estate Men Like Plan

The report of the advisory committee on housing released Tuesday night met with nearly full approval of a group of Lincoln real estate men and home builders.

The liberalization of the FHA provisions recommended by the committee, which includes 40-year mortgages on low-cost homes without a down payment, met with the particular approval of the builders.

One of them, James Strauss, said the extension of the payment period and other provisions of the new plan should prove a substantial help to families seeking homes. He especially approved the plan to equalize FHA financing between old and new houses. This, he pointed out, could mean that many older and larger homes can be put to better use.

Often, Strauss said, families with several children need quite large homes, and the new proposal provides a chance for these houses to be financed.

Karle V. Johnson, realtor, said: "As far as I am concerned, there isn't any question but that this should be a shot in the arm for the housing business. This should make available a lot more homes for people."

Needed Revisions

But he expressed one reservation: "I question the 40-year payment plan. I don't know how this will work out when the public realizes what a small part of each payment is going for building up equity in the house and how much is interest. Equity would be built up so slowly that a real estate slide would wipe all equity accumulated over 10 years."

Ervin Peterson, home builder, said the liberalization provisions "are what we have been working for." The present housing law, according to Peterson, needed revision regarding the provisions for interest and down payments on new houses. "This new plan will be very good if the lenders can just be found under those provisions."

He pointed out that the 40-year period will be satisfactory for the home buyer because the economic life of a house is a great deal more than 40 years.

committee that the constant improvement of the living conditions of all the people is best accomplished under a strong, free competitive economy, that every action taken by government in respect to housing should be for the purpose of facilitating the operation of that economy to provide adequate housing for all the people..."

The report was requested by

Eisenhower to guide his housing recommendations to Congress next month. The committee emphasized that its report is intended to be a single, comprehensive package, and that the enactment of only individual parts would not accomplish the goal.

The 40-year, 100 per cent FHA-insured loans would eventually be offered for an experimental period of two years, under the committee's recommendation. They would be available only on houses costing up to $7,600, or in designated high-cost areas, $8,600.

Purchasers would be required to make only a minimum cash payment of $200 to cover settlement costs and the first payments on taxes, insurance and similar prepaid expenses.

FHA also would be authorized to make commitments to builders or owners of rental houses guaranteeing financing of up to 85 per cent of the dwelling's value. Provision would be made for conversion of that temporary loan into a permanent loan of up to 100 per cent of the value when the house was sold to purchasers who would occupy the dwelling.

This, the committee held, should make possible the construction of modest homes to be rented under lease-contracts to low income families who later would have the opportunity to buy the houses when their income increased enough to meet ordinary purchase standards.

Death On Speeders, But Police Like It

Police Tuesday opened a nicely-wrapped Christmas package that contained a radar speed check set, cost about $5 per cent of the dwelling's value. Provision would be made for conversion of that temporary loan into a permanent loan of up to 100 per cent of the value when the house was sold to purchasers who would occupy the dwelling. This, the committee held, should make possible the construction of modest homes to be rented under lease-contracts to low income families who later would have the opportunity to buy the houses when their income increased enough to meet ordinary purchase standards.

$60,000 Attorney Fee Given White

Award Made For Action In School Land Litigation

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Attorney fees of $60,000 have been awarded to Lancaster District Judge Paul White for services rendered as a then-practicing Lincoln attorney in the 28 months of court litigation which resulted in the sale of school land leases at public auction.

In his decision, given orally Tuesday in Lincoln, District Judge Emerson Kokjer of Wahoo noted that the school lands trust fund had been enriched by more than $4½ millions as a direct result of State of Nebraska ex rel Fred Ebke vs. Board of Educational Lands and Funds, et al.

This case, appealed to the Nebraska Supreme Court, resulted in a declaratory judgment requiring the Board of Educational Lands and Funds to sell school land leases to the highest bidder at public auction rather than renew them automatically as had been done for over a half-century.

Rhee told a news conference for Korean reporters that he would allow the peace conference three months to do the task, "no matter when it may convene."

Only yesterday, Rhee's foreign minister Pyun Yung Tai warned that "definite action" to unify the war-torn peninsula would take place at the end of January.

The fight to win Rhee's promise to keep the peace was apparently successfully handled by U. S. Special Envoy Arthur H. Dean, allied negotiator at the unsuccessful and now disrupted negotiations with the Reds to set up a peaceful conference.

Dean was in Tokyo, preparing to depart for Washington, when Rhee made his dramatic announcement to the Korean press, and to Korean reporters employed by foreign news outlets.

As Rhee made his announcement, there was no indication when the peace conference would convene.

Dean's deputy negotiator, Kenneth Young, was scheduled to return to Korea from Tokyo today to await word from the Communists that they retracted the perfidy charge they leveled against the U. S. government.

The court has been full during the jury-picking and Judge E. L. Meyer permitted spectators to stand when all the seats were full. However, he indicated he may not allow this when the hearing itself begins.

Hruska Backs Treaty Change

Rep. Roman Hruska said before a meeting of the Sons of the Revolution here Tuesday evening that the present treaty-making powers of the administration can deprive us of liberties guaranteed by the Constitution.

Hamilton, in his Federalist Paper 57, Rep. Hruska said, wrote that the administration's "negotiations are contracts between sovereigns. But for the past 30 years, the second district representative said, treaties have limited the rights of states and individuals.

The Bricker Amendment, he said, will subject the administration's treaty-making power to the same Constitutional limitation as is attached to the other functions of government.

The meeting was in commemoration of the 182d anniversary of the Bill of Rights.

Demos Cite GOP Shortcomings In Fight Against Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic National Committee Tuesday accused Republican spy hunters of seeking to divert public attention from the GOP's own shortcomings in the fight against Communism, both at home and abroad.

Hitting back at Republican charges of Communist-coddling during the Truman administration, the committee issued a 16-page "facts sheet" prepared by its research division.

"The facts show," it said, "that under the Democrats, the United States has the most successful record of any free country in the world in crushing the effectiveness of the Communist apparatus within its midst."

"By contrast, in 10 months the new GOP administration cannot claim a single conviction of a Communist for which the investigation was not initiated by a Democratic administration in the first place."

No Major Law

The committee also asserted that during the last 32 years, in which four GOP presidents have been in power, "the Republicans have not passed a single major law directed at subversive activity."

But the Democrats, it said, have passed no less than seven anti-subversive laws, and it declared:

"The top leadership of the Communist Party has been wiped out—prosecuted and imprisoned by Democratic administrations."

Appearing in the wake of the Republican-triggered Harry Dexter White case and other GOP spy-hunting activities, the statement came up with a jab at Vice President Richard M. Nixon and a defense of former President Truman much quoted crack about "red herring" investigations of alleged Communists in the government.

Nixon's Work

The statement referred to the perjury conviction of Alger Hiss, former State Department official who was sentenced to five years in prison for lying under oath when he swore he never slipped U.S. secrets to ex-Communist Whittaker Chambers.

Then it said:

"Note: It is often claimed that Vice President Nixon's work while serving with the House, un-American Activities Committee is primarily responsible for Hiss's conviction. But three facts should be noted:

"1. The principal government witness (Whittaker Chambers) swore under oath before the House committee that he and Hiss had not engaged in espionage.

"2. The first concrete evidence on which to base an indictment was the so-called 'pumpkin papers' which Chambers produced in connection with the House committee hearings, but in the course of the pre-trial deposition in the Hiss-Chambers libel suit.

"3. The day Chambers produced documentary evidence, the Democratic administration went into action and successfully prosecuted Hiss. At the time President Truman referred to the case as a 'red herring,' Chambers had sworn under oath that there had been no espionage."

The statement cited figures to show that the number of Communists in the United States doubled during the Hoover administration—from 48,770 in 1928 to 102,991 in 1932—while the number shrank to 24,796 during the next 20 years under Democratic regimes.

It said the latest figure was contained in testimony by FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover before the House Appropriations Committee last Feb. 25.

Criticizing the Democrats with having "destroyed" the Communist Party leadership in this country, the statement said: "Red leaders have been prosecuted under the 1940 Smith Act, which makes it a crime to teach and advocate the overthrow of the government by violence."

Of these, it said, 12 top national party leaders and 11 "second echelon" party leaders were sentenced to jail.

In addition, it said, nine Communists including atomic spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg have been convicted as Soviet spies, and 160 others have been prosecuted on charges related to Communist activities.

The need for the recruiting of volunteers in the county was also noted in the letter.

Disaster Inventory By State CD Unit Is Expected Soon

FORLI, Italy (AP)—The second mild earthquake tremor in two days was felt Tuesday in this northeastern Italian city. No damage was reported.

Lancaster County Commissioners have been informed that a current inventory of equipment available for disaster work would be made soon by the Nebraska Civil Defense Agency.

A letter from State Civil Defense Director Guy N. Henniger said the agency's mobile support plans consist of mobile units and trained personnel which can be readily moved into disaster areas upon order of the governor.

Co-operative action of the county board was requested in obtaining an inventory of equipment available at county and city levels.

County CD Director Ray Osborn would submit the inventory to the area commander.

Such equipment would be placed in use by trained personnel paid in accordance with state law if directed to perform in a disaster.

The need for the recruiting of volunteers in the county was also noted in the letter.

Feasting On Raw Meat

The most charitable view to be taken of Douglas County Young Republicans, dissatisfied with the organization's platform adopted at the national convention last summer, is that they do not mean what they say.

Among other things, these young Douglas County Republicans went on record for:

(1) Immediate withdrawal of the United States from the United Nations.

(2) Immediate withdrawal of American ground forces and economic aid from Europe.

(3) Systematic reduction and elimination of all price supports and controls for the farmer.

Very Disappointing

"I can't reconcile the thinking of the Interior Department on this vital western program based on Colorado's water," Thornton said. "I am extremely disappointed and dismayed." —Extract from the Denver Post.

Colorado's Republican governor, Dan Thornton, was reacting naturally to news out of Washington indicating that a couple of pet projects for water development in that state had failed to win the approval of the Department of Interior under Secretary Douglas McKay. He, Thornton, was disappointed.

But if a most personable, likeable man who plays a swell game of golf on the toughest courses was disappointed and dismayed, he at least should not have been surprised. He was one of the western governors who fell in his head with the malarkey of turning the program of the development of natural resources back to the states in a much larger sense than has been the practice in recent years. This slogan to give the local people a larger voice in the direction of developments has its appeal. They get the notion they run the show. But it takes money to run the show, the kind of money few states are able to muster, so back they trudge to Washington with outstretched hands, asking Congress to appropriate sufficient funds to get the job done.

And there is where the hitch arises when it comes to states such as Nebraska, the Dakotas, Wyoming, Colorado, Montana and portions of the Southwest. They are relatively sparsely settled. They have few representatives in the House back in Washington, in a body where representation is on the basis of population. Actually these western states where the problems of agriculture and of reclamation are topmost never had it quite so good as during the last 20 years. They wanted a change, so they said. And they are getting it. In the outlined policies of the Department of Interior in recent weeks, these states are finding that they are out in the

Of Men And Things

A week ago (Tuesday, Dec. 8) a listening world heard a kindly, warm-hearted man, President Eisenhower, plead eloquently for an international agreement among the peoples of the world, including Russia, paving the way for the pooling of information and materials in the development of peacetime uses of atomic energy. Then six days later the same man, speaking to the mayors of American cities for the most part representing the metropolitan communities, warned of the great need for developing a defense against the possibility of atomic bomb attacks.

If the same ghost-writer had a finger in the preparation of the two addresses, he rates an award of some kind of versatility. One day we talk of peace and disarmament. The next we talk of the grim realities of frighteningly destructive bombs falling upon American cities. There is, we assume, no actual inconsistency. Any plea for international understanding and for disarmament can be reconciled with a second plea to the cities of this country to be ready for an atomic bomb attack. That, it seems, is the kind of a cockeyed world in which we live today. It is an incredible world of contradictions. It is a world in which there seems to be no place for the virtue of simple, common-sense thinking. Its people find themselves sorely taxed to believe their ears or to trust their eyes. What they see in national policy is cross-purpose growing out of the necessity of moving in two opposite directions at the same time, a nice "trick" but difficult.

It places a burden upon masses of people—masses of people here within the United States and abroad. One day we woo the dove of peace. The next brings the warning that it could happen here. One day the peoples of the world are asked to place faith and trust in each other. The next, the peoples of a portion of the world are warned they should be ready for any attack a cold, ruthless, diabolical enemy might launch against them.

What do the people of Nebraska's Main Street think? What is their reaction to all of this confusion business? Best guess is that they go quietly about their daily labors, unperturbed by the discordant, contradictory purposes to which we seem of necessity committed. The clash between the former governor of Nebraska, Fireman Val Peterson, now head of Civil Defense, and the representatives of the cities has been brewing. An energetic fella, Mr. Peterson, who when he takes hold of something, gives it all he's got. He has a tendency, however, to see only one thing at a time. Now, we are quite sure there is no disposition anywhere in this country to leave unnecessary tasks undone. There may be no help for it, but the fact is that there is a lot of contradiction today, a definite lack of information on the part of the public, with resulting confusion.

The pressure of security may make it necessary for the public to forego the type of information enabling it to act intelligently. But know as the facts can be told, certainly the American people should be given them. They can take it. They ought to know.

(4)—In the event of the failure of Korean truce talks, military and financial aid for the South Koreans and the Nationalist Chinese, with withdrawal of American ground forces except in an advisory capacity.

There is quite a mouthful.

There was one bright spot.

Out of the 180 active members in the organization of Douglas County Young Republicans, the platform was adopted at a meeting attended by about 30. Evidently the Eisenhower Republicans stayed home. Possibly those who did turn out feasted on raw meat.

cold, holding the sack. Colorado itself since the early years of the century has been in the process of a transition from a mining economy to an agricultural and industrial economy. Water and its beneficial use are a matter of life and death to it today. Every drop of snow water racing down the mountainsides that can be stored and put to irrigation is a substitute for the gold taken from Colorado's mountainous areas years ago.

These western states largely under the leadership of a group of Republican governors, including Gov. Thornton of Colorado, blew the trumpet for a new policy of reclamation. They insisted that the states should have a larger voice. Little did they realize that along with a larger voice for the states may be a larger financial responsibility for paying the costs of development.

Subsidy Protection

The Magazine of Wall Street is concerned about national subsidies and is ready to throw its body in front of the noble farmer to protect him from the hard blows of price supports. It is ready to stand with him in his fight for freedom.

Farmers, business men and industrialists are constantly being afflicted by subsidies. Probably all of them would prefer to be in a line of work where solvency could be counted upon, or, at least, where all might take full responsibility for their welfare. That would be an ideal condition.

But the magazine misses a point. The United States is a collection of economies between which balances must be maintained lest the one cohesive economy that binds them together disintegrates. Subsidies, from a governmental point of view are stabilizers, more designed to keep the national economy in healthful balance than to favor some group of individuals. Our country is getting pretty well along in years, but it has never figured out a way to stabilize imbalances and it has been at the subsidy business in one form or another from the start and will have to keep it up indefinitely, or until we all decide to get an acre of our own and grow everything we eat and eat everything we grow. And we doubt whether the magazine would quite go along with that.

Best Gifts

Drew Pearson made a timely gift suggestion recently. He recommended a gift check addressed to CARE and noted that one dollar will provide 11 pounds of basic food for someone somewhere in this needy world.

The thought bears working over. In it is an answer of what to do about friends whom one wishes to remember in a modest way at Christmas time. A dollar knick-knack is of doubtful value not often expressing the true spirit of the occasion. But a dollar invested in CARE or some other neighborly charity has a double value. It helps a thankful beneficiary. And when the dollar is given in the name of a friend the gift pays tribute to his nobility. Anyone would be heartened to receive a card at Christmas telling him that a worthy charity had received a gift in his name.

Drew Pearson can be reached in care of The Bell Syndicate 326 West Madison, Chicago 6, Illinois. He would be pleased to forward the money to CARE. Or if another charity is preferred there are always local committees which would be glad to accept the gift.

Fixing The Screen

A New York family is upset because an image on its television screen wouldn't go away. It grinned sardonically at all viewers and got in the way of later programs. The family was frightened.

No doubt the repairman can cope with the mystery. A few new parts and some solder on the wires will restore the family's peace of mind. And now that the American family has shown the proper concern about unwanted images that remain to the detriment of their television screen, we hope that it will start showing equal concern for the residual, detrimental images that are being fixed on the mind of today's children from quite a number of sources. These are a little harder to erase and cannot be fixed by a neighborhood repairman with his little kit of tools, yet they can remain for a lifetime and becloud a whole life.

Worldwide Pressure Behind Atomic Offer

WASHINGTON — Inside story of how President Eisenhower developed his dramatic appeal for an atomic energy pool is gradually leaking out.

One phase of the story goes back some weeks to the administration's decision to build an atomic reactor for civilian uses. Behind this announcement was the fact that our chief sources of uranium, the Belgian Congo and South Africa, have long been irked that they are not in on atomic secrets. And the possibility has always been latent that if not let in on atomic secrets they might cut off our uranium.

The Belgians and South Africans are not particularly interested in secret atomic weapons, but are tremendously interested in peacetime atomic energy. Both are deficit countries when it comes to coal and oil, so that cheap atomic energy could revolutionize their industries.

Last fall, therefore, when U. S. intelligence picked up apparently reliable reports that Russia was developing a peacetime reactor, the Eisenhower administration immediately decided to do the same. It was realized that the nation which made the most progress in this direction would have the bargaining power for the uranium supplies of the world.

Simultaneously, Eisenhower learned that twelve European countries had decided three years ago to combine their resources to develop peacetime atomic energy. Already they have built a plant at Geneva, Switzerland, and are constructing an atom-smasher about a dozen times more powerful than anything in the United States.

Co-operating countries in this atom pool include not only Belgium with its tremendous uranium resources, but England, France, West Germany and the Communist government of Yugoslavia.

Thus it became apparent to the President that the days when the United States could be the world's No. 1 atomic power would soon be over, if indeed they are not over already: The move for a world pool of atomic energy under the United Nations, was, therefore, the next step and a very natural one.

LODGE RELAXES

Those who have watched Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge sitting stern and dignified at the United Nations could never picture him sitting cross-legged on the floor singing French boudoir songs.

That was what happened at the apartment of French Ambassador Henri Hoppenot the other day, however, and the result was a new camaraderie between Lodge and other U. N. delegates. The U. S. envoy knew more songs and sang them in better French than the French envy himself.

It began at a dinner given once a month by the President of the Security Council who holds office for one month only, and gives a party at the end of the month for his colleagues.

Andre Vishinsky was at this particular party, given in the Hoppenot apartment, and he didn't look anywhere near as glum as usual. Lodge was also present, together with Sir Gladwyn Jebb of England, Charles Mallik of Lebanon and Dag Hammarskjold, secretary general of the United Nations.

The informality began when Dag Hammarskjold walked into the living room, found every chair occupied and sat down on the floor. His hostess, Madame Hoppenot, joined him.

"Let's sing something," said the secretary general of the United Nations. "I feel like singing."

"Good," encouraged Mme. Hoppenot. "You sing."

"But I can only sing off key."

"That would be charming," said the lady. "Then the rest of us can try to drown you out."

Ambassador Lodge, also sitting cross-legged on the floor, came to the rescue. He broke forth with "Quatre Vingt Chasseurs." Mrs. Lodge joined him. The wife of the Colombian ambassador sang in Spanish. A Yugoslav lady sang "Tam O' Shaleko." American songs followed.

In brief, the staid old Security Council, rent with wrangling over world problems, relaxed into a good old songfest. Delegates agreed they hadn't had such a good time since the U. N. was formed in San Francisco.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Ex-Senator Harry Darby, the Kansas Palomino horse breeder and one of the most popular men

Kansas ever sent to the Senate, confides to friends: "Secretary Benson and Undersecretary True Benson are so high-and-mighty they can't understand the farm picture. Yet Ike believes them.

Frank Carlson, who does understand the farm picture, can't persuade him otherwise," at a meeting of the Democratic state committee in New York, more men showed up with private airplanes than since 1948. Most of the private airplane Democrats had earlier gone over to Eisenhower. Johnny Cahill, who was given a big lift up the ladder to his lush law practice by the new deal, came back to the Democratic fold at the recent New York meeting. Most of his clients are Wall Street Republicans.

Stanley Woodward, the ex-ambassador to Canada and great friend of Mr. and Mrs. Truman, doesn't quite know whether to be congratulated or commiserated with over his election as treasurer of the Democratic National Committee. It's an even tougher job than ruling where diplomats and Supreme Court justices should sit at dinner, a job which he once had and which caused plenty of headaches.

Millard Tydings, the ex-senator from Maryland, looks as if getting out of the Senate agreed with him.

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I appreciate very much the cartoon on the editorial page last Sunday. The exposure of the Piltdown fake is just one more vindication of the Genesis record.

Evolutionary scientists have an incurable habit of posing as the special devotees of "truth" completely uninfluenced by bias of any kind. But what kind of reasoning is it that tells us that man, or anything else, "just happened"?

The advocates of this evolutionary propaganda know that to make their view plausible, they must have time, and plenty of it. They know that spontaneous generation has been completely disproved by scientific discovery. It has also been proved that no single instance is known of one kind of life having been transformed over into a distinctly different kind of life within modern times; and thus another link is missing. But they work on the principle that if all these problems can be pushed back into the dim shadow of a thousand million years ago, then almost anything may be supposed to have happened, and biological and geological fiction can be made plausible for the fooling of children and credulous adults.

It seems to me that to believe man descended from a monkey, and the monkey from a speck of life on the ancient sea, takes a lot more faith than to believe the simple and sublime record of Genesis. Where did the sea come from, and since life comes only from life, where did the speck of life come from? And who is so simple as to believe that the universe, so accurate in its movements that we can set our watches by the stars, just happened? I am a mason, and I have yet to see a fireplace, for example, which is far less complex, "just happen."

Who Were Right?

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The list of atrocities committed against American soldiers and South Koreans by the Chinese Communists and North Koreans has just been published by the United States Army. It is a document to make one's blood boil. At least 6,000 Americans were victims of the cruelest torture murders ever recorded and some 23,000 other persons—nearly all of them South Koreans—have met with the same fate.

Two years ago an American officer in Tokyo reported on these atrocities and received nothing, but rebuke for his trouble. The administration took the position that he was endangering a truce. Now that the whole bloody business has come into the open, it seems that nothing can be done about it. We had about 250 Communist prisoners who were known to have taken part in these torture murders but now they have been released to the Communists. The United Nations will review the matter, will probably give a mild rebuke to the torturers, and the case will be closed.

As these disputes drop out of the headlines, we tend to forget how great that loss would be. Virtually all of the oil supply for Western Europe comes from Arab countries of the Middle East. That oil moves through pipe lines highly vulnerable to attack by aroused extremists.

Thus the pipe line from Dahrain to Saudi Arabia runs for 1,070 miles through Jordan, Syria and Lebanon. Jordan is a storm center in the bitter feud with the new state of Israel. A line from the Iraqi oil fields runs 620 miles to the coast. Obviously even if troops were available, they could not be deployed over such distances.

Vice President Nixon returning from his trip around the world brings President Eisenhower a special report on the problems of the area. This should help to bring the required concentration—the combination of tact and pressure—essential if the dead weight of past prejudice is not to prevent any solution.

"Who were right in 1946 to '49?" asks the Indianapolis News. "the Americans who parroted assurances that the Chinese Reds were simple agrarian reformers, or the Americans who protested against the betrayal of Chiang Kai-shek in favor of barbarians? Who were right in 1950 to '51, the Americans who favored winning the Korean War when it could have been won or the Americans who mounted warnings about enlarging the war?" Who looks good now, the people who have been yammering the loudest about "witch hunting," "red herrings," "character assassination," and "McCarthyism," or those who have supported vigorous investigations of the fifth column?"

Values Of A Liberal Education

By DR. BOYD G. CARTER
Chairman, Department of Romance Languages and Literatures

University of Nebraska
(Fifteenth of a series)

"Why read something that isn't practical? Poetry, for example? Or what good will it do me to read a novel, a play or an essay?"

Many persons ask these questions and the fact that they do goes far, perhaps towards explaining the present popularity of biography and autobiography over fiction and poetry. I make this observation with no critical intent because good biography is a branch of literature. We Americans, while far from being unlettered and culturally crustaceous as certain of our foreign critics affirm, are as a national group probably less sensitive to the literary values of our own and world literature than educated citizens of some other countries. Why?

The answer to this question is not simple. It must be looked for in part in the competition of the movies, the radio, television and the automobile and in what many observers think is the over-emphasis, at too early a stage in the educational process, on vocational and technical training.

There are, of course, many other explanations of a historical nature which relate to the development of our mechanized economy. But what ever the causes, the fact is that they find a general focus in the attitude that literature is impractical and that the study of it is largely the pastime of eggheads, sissies and school teachers.

Several Million Italian Workers Stage Walkout

ROME (AP)—Several million Italian workers stayed off their jobs Tuesday in a 24-hour general strike for higher base pay.

Communist and non-Communist unions called out workers in all sections of industry from 6 a.m. Tuesday to 6 a.m. Wednesday.

It was the second nationwide walkout in five days in labor's growing agitation for higher wages and more job security. About a million government employees, including railroad and postal workers, struck Dec. 11.

Production Slowed

Tuesday's strike slowed factory production. Buses were halted in cities. All but essential utilities were affected. Most construction work was stopped.

Union leaders declared virtually 100 per cent of the workers struck. Non-union estimates ranged from 50 to 90 per cent.

Everyone seemed agreed that

Pre-Christmas Gouzenko Talk Is Ruled Out

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee announced Tuesday that Chairman Jenner (R-Ind.) is discontinuing his effort to interview Igor Gouzenko in Canada before Christmas.

Robert Morris, subcommittee counsel, said the subcommittee might interview him between Christmas and the opening of Congress Jan. 6.

Morris said so far the subcommittee has been unable to make arrangements with the Canadian government for questioning the former Soviet code clerk.

Morris said that at the urging of Republican congressional leaders Jenner had made a special request that the interview with Gouzenko take place before Christmas. He added that he and Jenner had been standing by to go to Canada whenever a time was fixed.

Gouzenko fled from the Soviet embassy in Ottawa in September, 1945, and tipped Canadian authorities to a Red espionage network with contacts in the United States.

The Subcommittee has been trying to arrange for an interview with Gouzenko and Jenner said it wanted to find out if the former government code clerk had any information that might help to uncover a new spy ring in the federal government.

Wheat Condition Continues Favorable

Moisture Said Ideal

The State and Federal Crop Reporting Service said Tuesday reports on the condition of wheat throughout the state continue highly favorable and the soil moisture supply is ideal for the crop to go into the winter.

Conditions, the report commented, are "far more favorable than they were on this date a year ago. The western Panhandle counties have not received as much of the fall moisture as the balance of the state, but July and August precipitation was far above normal in that area where wheat is grown largely on summer fallow land."

In a breakdown of moisture conditions the report listed:

Southwest Nebraska: Dry last summer but received a generous fall supply of rain ranging generally from 3 to  $3\frac{1}{2}$  inches. Dundy and Keith Counties were just below three inches but Hitchcock and Red Willow were over five inches.

South Central: Precipitation ranged from three and a half to four and a half inches with half the counties far in excess of that. The counties far in excess of that are Adams had 5.35, Phelps 6.30, Harlan 6.80, Webster 7.10.

Southeast: General range from four to over seven inches. Lowest was 3.37 in Richardson. Some of those getting heavier precipitation were Jefferson 5.46, Saline 6.62, Nuckolls 7.34, Thayer 7.68.

East Central: General range three and a half to four and a half. Lowest was 3.45 in Cass and among the higher were York 5. Seward 5.19, Saunders 5.17.

Central area north of the Platte: While not a heavy wheat district, some of the counties with the largest acreage are Buffalo with 3.30, Hall 3.75, Custer 4.15.

The report pointed out that while the past week saw no real general precipitation, the heaviest snows fell in the Panhandle—the only area in the state that did not receive ample precipitation in the past two months.

Precipitation throughout the state during the past week included:

	Eastern Division	Central Division	Western Division
Norfolk	01 Omaha	01 Valentine	04 Scottsbluff
Lexington	36	36	21 Sidney
No. Platte	21	21	21
Chadron	22	22	22
Imperial	23	23	23

Withdrawal Of U.S. From U.N. In Platform Adopted By GOP

OMAHA (AP)—Douglas County Young Republicans who didn't like the platform adopted at the organization's national convention in Rapid City last summer have come up with a new platform of their own.

The substitute platform was adopted at a meeting attended by 30 of the county club's 180 active members.

The substitute platform included planks providing for immediate withdrawal of the United States from the United Nations.

Removal of American ground forces and economic aid from Europe.

The platform received plank-by-plank attention. Some of the planks were amended from their previously suggested form. On some, the vote to accept was close.

Trainer Tells Of Offer Made By Kuykendall

OMAHA (INS)—An Arizona horse trainer testified in District Court Tuesday that Joseph Kuykendall offered him money to get rid of his wife.

The wife is 52-year-old Cecilia McClelland of Tucson, testified that Kuykendall made the offer at McClelland's tract near the Rialto race track at Tucson last spring.

McClelland said he heard Kuykendall state a week earlier at "Ma and Pa's Tavern" in Tucson that he had "offered" money to divorce his wife but wouldn't do it. McClelland explained that Kuykendall explained he would "string along and get it all."

"Easy Money"

Kuykendall, a 34-year-old Arizona horse trainer, is charged with first degree murder in the death of his millionaire wife near Omaha last June 18. Mrs Ardath Kuykendall, who received $8,000 annually from a trust fund, died of a fractured skull and brain hemorrhage in her luxurious trailer home.

McClelland said he had known Kuykendall four or five years and had met him at Amarillo Tex. he said the last time he saw Kuykendall was at Tucson when the octogenarian met him at his trailer one night and asked him if he wanted to make some quick easy money.

McClelland said he asked, "How?" and Kuykendall replied, "Get rid of my wife."

After he told Kuykendall he "didn't want to have anything to do with it" McClelland testified, Kuykendall walked away.

Beverages Group Confirms Binder

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP)—The appointment of Edward Binder of Omaha as executive secretary of the Nebraska Licensed Beverage Assn was confirmed Tuesday by a meeting of the group's board of directors.

Chris Jessen of Omaha association president, said Binder would succeed Ben Crain, also of Omaha who resigned the post to enter private business.

German Girl Quizzed In Army Desertion Trial Of Omaha GI

BERLIN (AP)—The pretty German girl friend of U.S. Army Pvt. Robert D. Blevens testified Tuesday the Russians propositioned both of them to entice American soldiers to the Soviet Zone but that Blevens refused.

Blevens to East Berlin in February and in two Germans she believed were agents of the Gestapo-like State Security Police (SSD).

She said she and Blevens were taken to Potsdam in the Soviet Zone where Blevens was questioned by a Russian colonel and another Russian.

Robert wanted to go back," she testified. "He didn't think it was right to be there."

She said they were taken to Dresden and then to Bautzen in the Czech border.

Mrs. Jones testified that the Russians provided them with money on several occasions and later with an apartment in East Berlin.

I was supposed to bring (American) soldiers over, and Robert was supposed to talk to them and tell them how fine things were over there," she declared.

She said Blevens told her the question proposal was out of the question.

Rural Route Consolidation Plan Protested

Fear 'Poor Service'

FARWELL, Neb. (P) — Residents of this little central Nebraska community were up in arms Tuesday over a proposal of the postoffice department to consolidate their rural route with Ashton, Boelus and Elba.

More than 200 persons turned out for an emergency meeting at which the proposed consolidation was discussed. They named Wesley Obermiller as chairman of a group to protest the action.

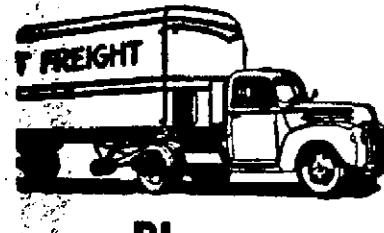

The main complaints were that the consolidation would result in "poor service" and persons living on the route would have to change their addresses.

C. M. Duxbury, a postal inspector from Grand Island, told the gathering that the postoffice department had asked that a survey be made on the feasibility of a consolidation. He noted the department would save $2,500 to $3,000 through the plan.

The 52-mile route now is being carried by a temporary route man, A. J. Horky. Under the proposal, the rural route at Boelus would be extended to 72 miles to include 39 miles of the Farwell route.

Those attending the meeting passed a resolution opposing the proposal and prepared a petition asking that the matter be dropped. One hundred twenty persons signed the petition.

U.N. Chief Leaves For Overseas Talks On Korea And Atomic Pool

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS) — U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and India's V. K. Krishna Menon left New York Tuesday to touch off important overseas conferences on Korea and the global pooling of atomic energy.

Hammarskjold and the chief Indian delegate flew together to London, where the U. N. chief will confer with British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and possibly with Prime Minister Winston Churchill. He also will meet Clement R. Attlee, leader of the Laborite opposition.

Menon, spokesman for Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru at U. N., will continue on to New Delhi for a major cabinet meeting with the Indian leader on Dec. 22 regarding the deadlocked war prisoner situation in Korea.

Gen. K. S. Thimayya, commander of the Indian custodian force in charge of the POW's, said he will release the 22,500 prisoners on Jan. 22. This will pose new problems as to their handling and resettlement elsewhere.

Hammarskjold and Menon both spurred current reports that the Assembly will be recalled into session early next year to deal with the Korean problem and the POW question. However, Hammarskjold is of the opinion that it would be surprising if the assembly were reconvened earlier than Feb. 1.

The Secretary General, who is filling a speaking engagement in the British capital, is expected to sound out Eden and other British diplomats on the Korean question and present Eisenhower's proposal for a pool of atomic materials for peaceful purposes.

Although Hammarskjold kept mum prior to leaving about his coming talks with the British leaders, there are clear indications that the two major issues will predominate in the conversations. Hammarskjold also may utilize the opportunity to renew his standing offer to Churchill to address the General Assembly in person.

Madame V. L. Pandit, as president of the 60-nation group, suggested that Churchill, Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov and the President of France follow Mr. Eisenhower's example and make personal appearances before the Assembly.

On the President's atomic proposal, the secretary general is known to favor the proposed holding of private conferences among the United States, Russia and other atomic powers within the U.N. Disarmament Commission on the overall issue of atomic controls and the arms race.

Road Fund Payment Method Is Checked

Because all Highway Department money is placed in one bookkeeping fund by the appropriation bill of the Legislature, no record is kept of those funds that can be used on non-statutory highways.

The state auditor, treasurer and tax commissioner met with Highway Department officials in an effort to make certain that they were not paying out funds unlawfully when used on non-statutory roads.

It was finally agreed that the Highway Department each month will furnish the other officials with a statement that vouchers for work on non-statutory roads do not exceed the amount available for that purpose.

Tourists' Bad Manners, Arrogance Amaze Carson

STATE SEN. HUGH CARLSON of Ord, back in Nebraska after a six months' tour of Europe, said here Tuesday that about the only unpleasant note on the trip was the way some tourists acted.

Carson said he was amazed at the arrogance and bad manners of some Americans abroad.

The Carsons visited 11 countries, and the senator said he hopes to make the trip again in a year or so.

He said they would leave Nebraska this week to spend Christmas in Mexico City, and then will spend some time in California.

'General Niobrara Flood Plan Not Justified'

OMAHA (AP)—Army Engineers reported Tuesday they could find no dollars-and-cents justification at this time for a general flood control system on the Niobrara River and its principal tributaries, except for a $1,072,300 local flood protection project at Gordon, Neb.

At the same time, engineers said "a system of multiple-purpose reservoirs along the main stem, primarily for the production of power, was found to be not economically justified for the present time." A specific check of the power angles had been made.

The Army Engineer investigation was ordered by House and Senate committees in 1945 and results were disclosed Tuesday by Brig. Gen. W. E. Potter, Missouri River division engineer.

Investigation Study

The Reclamation Bureau also has made a study of the Niobrara Basin, particularly as to irrigation possibilities along with other possible benefits, and has come up with a comprehensive report recommending various reservoirs primarily for irrigation storage.

Referring to the Reclamation Bureau's report, General Potter said: "Studies of these Reclamation Bureau reservoirs indicate than any flood control benefits incidental to their operation for irrigation would be negligible, and that the addition of flood control storage in any of them would be economically infeasible."

An Army Engineer spokesman said this does not dispute the Reclamation Bureau's report recommending reservoirs, but points out the relationship of flood control to them.

The Niobrara crosses northern Nebraska from west to east. It and its tributaries also lie in Wyoming and South Dakota. The flood protection improvement recommended at Gordon would be designed to divert Antelope Creek floods around the town and into North Fork. Antelope Creek is a tributary of the Niobrara.

The proposal also calls for levees and dikes to protect the town against the maximum floods of record.

The total estimated cost of the improvement — $1,072,300 — is based on October, 1952, prices. Of the total, $892,300 would be borne by the federal government and $180,000 by local interests.

A diversion dike on Antelope Creek just north of Gordon would be capable of ponding and diverting the entire flow of the computed maximum probable flood and, during flood periods, would create a pool with a surface area of about 50 acres. The channels of Antelope Creek and North Fork would be enlarged and straightened, and concrete drop structures would be provided where necessary to avoid excessive slopes.

Local interests would be required to provide rights-of-way, construct the necessary highway alterations and bridges, assume liability for any damages resulting from construction of the project, and maintain and operate the project after completion.

Interested parties who have views one way or the other on the Niobrara report were invited to write to the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors in Washington, which will review the report.

All Six Railroads Protest Rule Plan

All six major railroads operating in Nebraska now have filed protests with the Railroad Commission against a Railroad Brotherhood proposal that the commission set up track clearance regulations.

The latest to file was the Union Pacific on Tuesday.

The railroads contend it would be "impractical" for the commission to seek to regulate the amount of clearance which a track should have of loading docks and other installations.

Track Sale Okayed

The sale of a small triangular tract of ground at the southwest corner of 33rd and Sheridan has been approved by the City Council. The land was formerly a part of old Sheridan and was vacated for street purposes last week by the council.

REA May Delay Court Test Of Power Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rural electric co-operatives may put off a court test of the government's new power marketing policy for the Missouri Basin reclamation project.

The policy—or "marketing criteria" as it is called—has been under heavy fire from the co-operatives (REAs) on ground that it would destroy their rights as preferential government power customers.

Last Friday, following nearly a week's hearings by a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee, the Interior Department announced substantial changes in the new standards.

William C. Wise, attorney for the Missouri Basin Electric Consumers Assn., told a reporter that plans to seek an immediate court injunction against the new power marketing policy may be changed.

Wise said Friday's revisions constitute a "vast improvement." Previously, Wise had stated that an injunction against the Interior Department would be sought in Federal Court in Washington before the first of the year, when the new policy is to go into effect.

He said Tuesday, however, that what may happen will depend upon several things.

The REA's will seek to negotiate with the Interior Department to obtain further revisions. In addition, Wise stated, the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee is

$59,000 Estimate For Vine OKed

Plans, specifications and a $59,000 estimate have been approved by the City Council for the paving of Vine from 35th to 40th.

Cost of the project is above average due to certain storm sewer work that will be necessary. The $18,000 in storm sewer work, to come before the paving, is expected to be financed by the city's storm sewer fund.

Another extra cost item, also to be paid for by the city, is the 38 feet width of the paving. The city will pay for all cost on paving beyond regulation 28 feet width.

Also approved was a $2,100 estimate for the grading of Everett, 52nd to 750 feet east.

A third estimate receiving Council approval was the $52,000 transformer for installation at the city's A Street power plant. The new 6,000 kva transformer will replace an existing smaller unit now in operation.

January Bidding On Armory Seen

The State Military Department expects to open bids in January on a proposed new armory at Grand Island, Brig. Gen. Guy Henninger said Tuesday.

Some changes in certain details of the plans will have to be made by the architects and approved by Washington authorities before a date and for opening bids can be set.

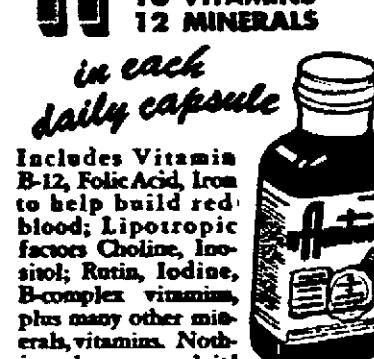

The Grand Island building is a "guinea pig" project, as it is the first armory in the country where the National Guard and Reserve Officers have gone together in construction of an armory.

The structure will cost "close to $200,000" Gen. Henninger predicted.

expected to hold further hearings. "We hope we can work this out without a lawsuit," he said.

REA's complaint before the Senate subcommittee was that the new policy in its original form threatened priorities of legally designated preference customers in obtaining government power, and opened the way for the department to enter into 20-year contracts with private utilities for the sale of power.

Spokesmen for co-operatives from various Missouri River

Basin states said the new policy would mean they might have to enter into contracts next year for all power they would need in the future, and pay for it even before there was a demand for it.

They also objected they could not make accurate estimates of their future needs as required under the new criteria.

Assistant Secretary of the Interior Aandal, announcing revisions in the new policy Friday, said the government would not enter into 20-year contracts for power with REA's will be extended.

power sales to private firms. He said power sold to such customers would be on a short-term basis, so it could be recaptured for preference customers when needed.

The revisions emphasized that Missouri Basin government power will not be sold to private customers unless it is "clearly apparent that it is in excess of the needs of preference customers," and that existing contracts for power with REA's will be extended.

Plane Passenger Fatally Stricken

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—Carl Arthur Holth, 51, of Livonia, Mich., died, apparently of a heart ailment, as an American Airlines plane made an emergency stop here.

Holth and his wife were en route from Los Angeles to Detroit when Holth suffered a heart attack over the Imperial, Neb., area. The plane's crew radioed ahead to Grand Island that it was making an emergency stop here.

Dakota Housewife's Layer Cake Wins Top $25,000 Prize

Wednesday, December 16, 1953 THE LINCOLN STAR 11

NEW YORK (AP) — A small town housewife from Webster, S. D., who learned kitchen artistry as a child, Tuesday won $25,000 for a layer cake she baked.

She is Mrs. Bernard Kanago, selected as "Cook of the Year" in a contest with 80 other women for Pillsbury Mills' fifth National Bakeoff title. She is the wife of a paperhanger and the mother of two children.

Mrs. Kanago thought up the recipe especially for the contest. It features chopped and toasted nuts on top and layers of grated chocolate in the middle of the cake.

Winner of the $7,500 second prize was Mrs. Joseph E. Terrill of Burlingame, Kan., with her cinnamon nut crisp.

Nun Wins Third Prize

Winner of the $2,500 third prize was a Roman Catholic nun, Sister Marie Jose Cannon of Honolulu, who will turn her prize money over to her Maryknoll Order. Her entry was a batch of "coconut island" cookies.

Winner of the $3,000 top award in the junior class was 13-year-old Joanne Ardele Littley, Bluff Point, N. Y., with her marbled apple gingerbread cake.

The 80 senior finalists and the 20 junior entries were selected for the recipes they submitted.

Brought to New York, they turned the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel into a mammoth kitchen yesterday as they put the recipes to the test. Final selections were made on the basis of the finished product as it came from the oven.

Mrs. Kanago said she plans to use her first prize money to give her children an education and to build a "nest egg."

It Sounds Good

Her cake is baked by pouring white cake batter over finely chopped nuts on the bottom of the cake pans. Then she adds a layer of grated chocolate and the balance of the batter to each pan.

The two-layer cake thus takes on the appearance of a four-layer cake when cut—or one with three fillings. Its chocolate frosting is topped with a ring of toasted nuts.

Actress Helen Hayes presented

Mrs. Kanago with her $25,000 and told her:

"The most wonderful part of this is that you have chosen to share your recipe with other women all over America. For some recipes, you know, are almost as personal as a woman's age."

"When a woman gives a recipe that she values to another woman, she gives something of her own self, something of her own home, something of her own background, breeding and family heritage—something very personal and precious."

Four New Polio Cases Are Reported In State

Four cases of polio, the most in several weeks, were reported last week, the State Health Department said Tuesday. Two cases were reported in Adams County and one each in Lancaster and Dauphin Counties.

The new cases bring the total for the year to date to 226 as compared with 2,184 at this time last year.

Army Gets A Look At Bobtail Jeep; It's Only 100 Inches Long

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army Tuesday got a look at a lightweight, bobtail jeep which, its designer says, has so much zip he calls it "The Bobcat."

The new jeep was built with but one purpose: It had to be small enough and light enough to be carried easily in an airplane.

So it's but 100 inches long—that's three feet shorter than the standard jeep—and it weighs only 1,475 pounds, or 44 per cent less than the regular job.

But, as Army officials crowded around it at the Pentagon, you'd have to say it looks pretty much like any other jeep, right down to that dismal olive drab paint.

Except to its designer, Mike Ordorica, who was eying it fondly.

"When I started work on this problem," Ordorica said, "I carefully examined each part. If I could substitute something lighter for it, I did. If I could throw it away, I did. You'd be surprised how much I threw away."

He wound up with an aluminum body, magnesium wheels, a plastic windshield and—a throwback to the old Model T—no instruments at all on the dashboard.

"There are 60 horses under this hood," Ordorica said. "It will do 70 miles an hour—too fast. When you go 70 in this car you know you're traveling."

Sgt. L. C. Lester Albee of Spooner, Wis., took it on a test run around the Pentagon and came back with a report that will reassure the millions of GIs who rode jeeps in World War II and in Korea.

"It's okay," the sergeant said cheerfully. "Rides just as hard as it ever did."

MARJORIE ROSE FLEITZER

To Wed In January

Mr. and Mrs. Marcus H. Fleitzer of New Britain, Conn., are announcing this morning the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Marjorie Rose, to Dr. Arthur H. Schmale Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Schmale of Lincoln.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, Jan. 9, in New Britain.

Miss Fleitzer is a graduate of St. Joseph College, West Hartford, Conn., and received her Master's Degree from Smith College, Northampton, Mass.

Dr. Schmale attended the University of Nebraska, where he is a member of Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity, and received his degree in medicine from the University of Maryland. Currently he is a United States Public Health Service Fellow in Psychosomatic medicine at the University Hospital, Baltimore, Md.

WCTU To Meet

An open meeting will be held by the Grace Methodist WCTU at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. W. Deems, 3239 S.

A talk, "Total Abstinence Is A Christian Virtue," will be given by the Rev. Edward Jeanbey, and a program of special music will be presented by Mrs. Harry Cochell and Mrs. Evelyn Danskin.

Mother's Club Hears Program

The Northeast Child Center Mothers' Club met Tuesday afternoon at the school for its regular meeting and a Christmas program given by the pupils. "The Doll Dance" and "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers," was presented by kindergarten pupils, followed by songs by the first grade and two choral readings, "My Christmas Guest," and "The Piano."

Songs and poems were presented by the second grade pupils, and the third grade gave several choral readings and carols. The Christmas story in pageant and group singing of carols brought the program to a close.

Camp Fire Officers

Following an exchange of gifts, a program of organ music was presented by Mrs. Mechling and a group of songs were given by Mrs. Francis Mace, vocalist. A piano and organ duet was presented by Mrs. Mechling and Miss Helen Boyce.

At the close of the afternoon, refreshments were served by a committee including Mrs. Mary W. Lantz, Mrs. R. W. Jackson, Mrs. Mechling and Miss Roberta Jones.

PTA's Hear Speakers

An open house and Christmas assembly replaced the regular monthly meeting of SARATOGA PTA Tuesday evening at the school. An instrumental quartet, including Mrs. John Helzer, Miss Fern Vincent, Miss Kathy Pabst and Eugene Clark, provided Christmas music during the program, while the Saratoga Mothers' Chorus sang carols in the school halls during the open house.

Mrs. Alexander Bauer was the mistress of ceremonies, and L. G. Moore was in charge of the program. A community sing, under the direction of Mrs. R. A. Mace, with Miss Deverne Ernstmeyer, accompanist, was followed by a Christmas reading and film by Miss Doris Eby. John Helzer led the devotions, and his accompanist was Eugene Clark.

CLIPPINGS from Maison Lorenzo

Serving as hostesses for the social hour were the 6th grade room mothers, Mrs. Oslo Chandler, Mrs. Ralph Hanneken, Mrs. Alexander Maul, Mrs. K. A. Davis, Mrs. Sumner Foulk and Mrs. William Davis.

HOLMES PTA presented its Christmas program Tuesday afternoon at the school after a short business meeting. The resignation of the character and spiritual chairman, Mrs. T. J. Dvorak, was announced, and Mrs. Keith Knudsen was appointed to take her place. Mrs. Ernest Hamann is the new recreation chairman.

Capt. Clinton Hurd gave a talk on safety, and Mrs. Karl Sturmer announced the program. All grades participated in the holiday program, and the Rev. T. C. Huxtable, minister of the Eastridge Presbyterian Church, talked on "The Holiday Spirit."

ADVERTISEMENT

The Brides' Book Says:

Mrs. Thomas Keating, who will be the matron of honor, Miss Rosalie Zahn, Syracuse, is the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids are Miss Vera Janke, and Miss Elizabeth Pearce, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Sara Whitlock and Miss Donna Miller will light the candles.

Richard E. Pearce will serve his brother as best man, and the ushers include Blaine Rieke, Aurora, Ia., James Haberlan, James Cedardahl, Robert Lawson, David City, and Wesley Pearce, another brother of the prospective bridegroom.

The bridesmaids will be Miss Kathleen Carpenter of Omaha, Miss Martha Schuster of Hastings and Miss Mary Mulligan of David City, and lighting the candles will be Miss Sandi Imm of Bartlett and Miss Sylvia Barton of Grand Island.

Larry McMaster of Wisner will serve his brother as best man, and the ushers will include Craig Casey of Enid, Okla., Harold Visser of Madison, S. D., and Frank Evans of Wisner.

Has Chapel Ceremony

Miss Claudia Ruth Neuenwander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Nouenwander, became the bride of Dr. Irvin T. Beck, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Beck of Louisville, Ky., at a ceremony which was solemnized Tuesday morning Dec. 15, in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church. The lines of the 10 o'clock service were read by Dr. C. Vin White.

As the members of the family and a small group of friends assembled, Miss Grace Finch presented a prelude of organ music and also played the wedding music.

The matron of honor and her sister's only attendant was Mrs. Donald A. Harvey of Omaha, who wore an afternoon frock of dark blue sheer with matching accessories. She carried a colonial nosegay of red roses.

The bride chose for her wedding an ensemble of ice blue silk shantung. The short-sleeved molded bodice was covered by a brief jacket, and the circular skirt flared into fullness. Her small hat and accessories were in matching tone, and she carried a cluster of pink roses.

Dr. Donald A. Harvey of Omaha, served as best man, and seating the guests was James D. Allen of Rockford, Ill.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Beck left for a short wedding trip after which they will reside at Louisville, Ky., where the bridegroom is engaged in the practice of dentistry.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska, the bride has served with the recreation staff of the American Red Cross. Dr. Beck is a graduate of the University of Louisville school of dentistry, where he is a member of Delta Sigma Delta fraternity, and has served with the air force in England and South America.

After Christmas--What?

HAVE something like nine days left to talk about Christmas—and what the conversational topics will be after the holiday passes into oblivion, is anybody's guess—but at least we're having a wonderful time bringing the holiday guests—speeding the holiday travelers on their way—and talking about Christmas activities, generally.

THE LATEST names in the guest book are those of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Woods Jr. and their children Chip and Avery, who will be arriving the day before Christmas to spend the long holiday week-end as the guests of Mr. Woods' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Woods.

And completing the family circle for Christmas day and the week end will be Mr. and Mrs. Woods' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Petersen Jr., and their two children, Terry and Woody, of Omaha.

LEARNED, too, that Jim Edmiston will be coming from San Diego, Calif., to spend the holidays with his mother, Mrs. A. R. Edmiston—

AND that Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Brown would be coming from St. Louis, Mo., on Dec. 22, to spend the holidays with their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Roland C. Mueller.

HOME on Friday from Carleton college, Northfield, Minn., will be Miss Sylvia Hancock who will spend the holidays with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Hancock—Dr. and Mrs. Hancock are more or less expecting another holiday guest—their son, Roger, who is attending Yale graduate school—but Mr. Hancock may, instead of coming to Lincoln, go to Boston to spend the holiday period with his brother, Dr. William Hancock, who, incidentally, did his Christmas homecoming early—Dr. Hancock was in Lincoln for a few days last week so will not be coming again during the holiday season.

OUR TRAVEL list grows each day—this morning we discovered that Mrs. E. R. Heiny will be spending the holidays in Oklahoma City where she will be the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Rems Heiny—Mrs. Heiny plans to leave on Saturday for Oklahoma.

MONDAY will find Mrs. Elmer Hanson en route to Burlington, Ia., where she will spend the holidays with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Jones II, and their family.

AND WE heard that Mr. and Mrs. John P. Miller will be

AND WE also learned that next Sunday will bring Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilson home from New York where they have been spending the past week or 10 days—Mr. Wilson will be a few days late for the Patriarchs Christmas party—thus missing the bows that go with the office of secretary-treasurer—his new official title as far as Patriarchs is concerned. Mrs. Martin Aitken was named president of the group for the coming year—and Mrs. William Ferguson vice president.

We seem to have begun with one idea and ended with two more—but since we are on the Patriarchs topic we may as well tell you that the after dinner program at last evening's party included numbers by the Triple Trio from Northeast high school and a Christmas monologue by Richard Cavett, a senior at Lincoln high school.

In New Role

Jim Lee Howell (left), 39, star player and assistant coach of the New York Giants of the National Football League, was named head coach of the club Tuesday, succeeding Steve Owen, who resigned. Howell was named to a two year contract for 1954 and 1955. With him is John V. Mara, president of the club. ## Ed Barrow, Builder Of Yankees' Empire, Dies PORCHester, N. Y. (AP) — Edward G. Barrow, 85, who as general manager built the New York Yankees baseball empire, died Tuesday night.

In retirement since 1947, Barrow had entered United Hospital July 7 suffering from a malignancy. He had been in a coma for several days in November, rallied slightly and then became worse over the weekend. He died at 7:35 p.m. CST.

A huge bulk of a man who once boxed an exhibition with John L. Sullivan and made Babe Ruth back down from a fight, Barrow had watched his body waste away in recent years because of illness.

Yet his mind remained sharp and his baseball enthusiasm keen to the end.

He continued to attend games at Yankee Stadium until last summer when he had to content himself with watching them on television from his Port Chester home.

During that period the Yankees won 14 American League titles and 10 world championships.

He changed the late home run king, Babe Ruth, from a pitcher to an outfielder and discovered Hans Wagner, who to the end contended was the greatest baseball player who ever lived.

Barrow, known as "Cousin Ed" to his intimate friends, retired as president of the club in 1946 after a syndicate headed by Larry MacPhail bought the American League club. He remained one year as chairman of the board of directors and disposed of his stock for $300,000.

He was elected to baseball's Hall of Fame just before the last world series. Although it wasn't generally known, he came close to being named commissioner of baseball after the death of Kenean Mountain Landis in 1944.

Baseball executives sought him for the job but he flatly declined saying he was too old at 77.

Barrow never played baseball himself but his career spanned 51 years.

Tutors Win 45-35 Over Holy Name

Lincoln Star Special

OMAHA—Teachers College High School's Hal Rowe turned on the heat in the first quarter Tuesday night to give his teammates a 17-5 advantage over Omaha Holy Name. The margin was good enough for a 45-35 win for the Lincoln team.

Rowe scored 11 points in the first period. Holy Name was unable to dent the scoring column until just slightly more than four minutes were left, when a free throw gave the Omahans their first counter.

Two field goals helped the Holy Name cause with less than a minute left in the frame.

Bruce Hoffman, in addition to collecting 14 points for second-high honors, was outstanding for the Tutors with a sparkling floor game. Tall Jim Thom played his usual effective game under the boards.

Hagarty led Holy Name scoring with 13 points.

Enthusiastic Rasputin Is Disqualified

An enthusiasm for his art cost old Russian bear, Ivan Rasputin, a wrestling match out at the Fairgrounds Arena Tuesday night.

The whiskered fellow from the Russian steppes was disqualified in the third fall when Referee Joe Krejci consistently rebuked him for fighting with Irish Pat O'Connor outside the ring.

The two scored 17 points each and controlled the boards effectively in the Pioneers' first victory of the season.

HASTINGS—Hastings State College used a well-balanced scoring attack Tuesday night to overpower a scrappy Concordia College basketball team, 84-52.

Conrad Peterson, Jim Brockhaus and Faye Dunbar combined to give Hastings a 25-11 first-quarter margin and the Broncos were never headed.

Hastings led at the half, 43-29.

Leading scorers for the Broncos were Hilly Beck, 16; Peterson, 15; George Klein, 12; Brockhaus, 12, and Dunbar, 10.

Rollin Cattau and Omar Miller paced Concordia with 10 points apiece.

Overhauling THE NEWS

By WALLY DEBROWN

Recently we've noticed several magazines have been nominating their choice for The Man of the Year.

Naturally they've been hitting it from all angles... Churchill, Nehru, Eisenhower, Malenkov, MacArthur, etc. But, like the man who misplaced the elephant, we think they're overlooking the obvious.

The Man of the Year in our battered opinion is the poor old bewildered taxpayer anywhere. While it's clear that the leaders of the world are mighty important, did you ever think where they'd be if they had no one to lead? Our Important Man is the fellow who pays his bills, keeps the hot groceries on the family table, does his bit to the best of his ability in civic affairs, and votes the way his conscience dictates. And we've got millions of them.

A quick glance around town these days almost has you ready to agree with the fellow who said, "There's nothing so shopworn as a last minute Christmas shopper."

And speaking of shopworn things, is that old car looking pretty shopworn... and acting it, too? Well, it's still worth something to you... especially in trade on a new STUDEBAKER COMMANDEER V-8... the car that will still be new for years to come. # Crossroads Fight For Ez Tonight

By RUSS NEWLAND

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A boxer at the crossroads—that's former Heavyweight Champion Ezzard Charles. If he doesn't beat Coley Wallace here tonight his chances for a shot at the title he once owned probably will be gone forever.

They're both contenders, Charles No. 3 and Wallace No. 6 and the outcome of their nationally-televisioned 10-rounders will mean much to the winner. The contest at the Civic Auditorium will begin to show on screens throughout the country at 8 p.m. CST. Two judges and a referee will officiate. The California scoring system consists of 11 points to the round, even ones at 5½-5½.

Charles, with much more experience to his credit and the champion from 1949 into 1951, is favored to whip his younger bigger rival. Ezzard will weigh in between 185 and 188 pounds. He will have to look up at Wallace, a 25-year-old 205-pounder from New York who stands six feet two inches.

Charles is 32 years old and over the hill so far as boxers go. But he is still a first class fighter, with plenty of ring savvy. In spite of the third place assigned him in the latest rankings, many think he is best equipped and qualified of all the contenders.

The Jean Cincinnati Negro was by-passed in the last championship battle, Rocky Marciano's strategy board, which comprises Manager Al Weill from top to bottom, chose to defend the crown against Roland LaStarza.

If Charles wins from Wallace, he wants nothing more than a return match with Nino Valdez, the Cuban who beat him by a decision last August. Ezzard has no excuses but he is positive he will wallop Valdez handily next time.

Wallace is an ambitious young fellow with a mission. He's a pretty good boxer and he pokes his left hand out like an old timer. His right is hefty. Sparring partners here seemed to have no difficulty in smacking him on the jaw but the big fellow can take a stout punch.

Coley has had only two fights this year and won both with ease. He is just after doing a stretch as an actor in the movies. "The Joe Louis Story," Wallace took the part of the ex-champ.

And he doesn't want to let old Joe down.

Mal Whitfield Is Unofficially Cleared; Wes 'Not Worried'

From Press Dispatches

LOS ANGELES — Mal Whitfield, world's top middle distance runner, was cleared unofficially Tuesday of charges which could bar him forever from amateur competition if confirmed.

Larry Houston, regional secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, made the announcement after conferring with Whitfield in Los Angeles Tuesday morning.

Dan Ferris, secretary of the AAU, issued a statement in New York Tuesday night confirming that Whitfield and Wes Sante, who ran the fastest mile ever recorded by an American, were being investigated for possible violation of amateur rules.

At Lawrence, Kan., Santee, American distance star, said he was not worrying "because I have done nothing wrong."

Houston, after the meeting with Whitfield, issued a statement in which he said:

"There is no doubt in my mind that the charges are unfounded."

I am firmly convinced that Mal Whitfield did not violate any rules or regulations governing the AAU."

Houston added that he regards the two-time Olympic games 800-meter champion and holder of 14 world's middle-distance records as a "young man of excellent character and as worthy as any who ever represented the AAU."

Jim Tatum Named Coach Of The Year

NEW YORK (AP)—A slightly flabbergasted Jim Tatum was named by his colleagues Tuesday as coach of the year for piloting Maryland's football team to an undefeated season.

The tall, 260-pound former tackle at North Carolina was picked by 151 of the 599 members of the American Football Coaches Association polled by Scripps-Howard newspapers.

Henry (Red) Sanders of U.C.L.A. was runner-up with 111 votes and Forest Evashevski of Iowa third with 68. Then came Frank Leahy of Notre Dame, Ray Eliot of Illinois, Ralph Jordan of Auburn, George Munger of Pennsylvania, Ivy Williamson of Wisconsin, Earl Blaik of Army, and West Virginia's Art Lewis and Kentucky's Paul Bryant tied for 10th.

Links To Open Swim Season In Triangular

Lincoln High opens its swimming season against two perennially strong teams today at the University of Nebraska swimming pool.

Coach Harry Kuklin's LHS swimmers have a triangular meet with Hastings and Omaha Tech. It will be the first regular competition for Lincoln's swimmers, who met Northeast in a practice affair earlier.

Four lettermen are on hand to form the nucleus of this year's Lincoln squad. Paul Schorr, Carl Bodensteiner, Doug Thorpe and Monroe Usher are seasoned campaigners.

In addition to this group, Kuklin is counting on help from Tom Fisher, Bill North and Jim Jung, three juniors who earned certificates last year. Fisher, North and Jung all scored well in this year's LHS interclass meet.

The remainder of the Lincoln swimming schedule:

Jan. 8—Boys Town, 15—at Hastings; 19—Boys Town, 22—Des Moines Abe Lincoln; 26—Hastings and Sioux City; Feb. 2—Boys Town, 20—NSAA champion; at NU pool

Spartans Take Last Home Field Practice

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State Coach Biggie Munn, marched his football team briefly outdoors for the last home practice Tuesday.

There was a swirling snow storm up to a few hours before practice time P when the storm abruptly let up and headed for a last sample of Michigan's chilly climate.

About 20 men had to tug for half an hour to get the covering canvas off a section of the stadium turf so the squad would have room to operate.

The 44-man traveling squad, coaches and the official party take off via chartered plane for California shortly after 9:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Coch Biggie Munn probably was glad to get away for a while from the speculations about his future, given new life by the opening of the head coaching job at Minnesota.

"Look at my car," Munn grinned. "It's getting tender from answering phone calls." The most authoritative report was that George S. Alderton, sports editor of the Lansing State Journal, said Tuesday that Munn had turned down a professional coaching job within the past week—"a very good deal indeed."

W. Germans Back Dulles' Stand On Unified Army

France's Bidault Is Silent

BONN, Germany (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles got West German backing Tuesday night for his warning to Europe to create a unified Army or risk American withdrawal. Some officials of Italy, Belgium, Holland and Britain also offered sympathetic comment, contrasting with a generally cool reception of Dulles' words in the European press.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic Party hailed the secretary's declarations at the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting in Paris as "logical and natural."

"We have pointed out time and again that there would come a time when American patience would end and when the American government could no longer bear the responsibility of having her own people carry the main burden of Western defense," the Christian Democrats said. "This point seems to have been reached."

Aimed At France

Dulles' statement in Paris the previous day was interpreted widely as aimed at France, which has hedged her acceptance of the Army treaty on such points as settlement of the Saar, approval of French amendments to the treaty and firm commitments from the United States and Britain to maintain their military strength on the continent.

French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, asked for his reaction, snapped "I have nothing at all to say." He reported on the statement at a meeting of the French cabinet.

Field Marshal Lord Alexander, Britain's defense minister, said "The United States has spent billions and billions of dollars over here and wants to see some results." Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden declined comment.

Guiseppe Pella, Italian premier and foreign minister, said "Dulles had made a very courageous statement."

In Washington, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen he did not know whether President Eisenhower had advance knowledge of Dulles' remarks.

Second Christmas Matin Talk At NW Slated Wednesday

Bill Brown, Tuskahe, N. Y., will speak Wednesday in the second of a series of four Christmas Matin addresses at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Theme this year is "Hark the Herald Angels Sing."

"Christmas, 2,000 years ago, gave us a Saviour from fear. He has shown us the way and given us the word of assurance." Aileen Lawson, junior from Syracuse, said in the first Matin address Tuesday.

"We are today in somewhat the same situation the shepherds were in," she pointed out. "Their lives were filled with fear. It is important, therefore, that this revelation from heaven started with a word of assurance—Fear not."

John Park, Central City sophomore, was in charge of the service.

Special Christmas Program Is Held At Riley School

The entire enrollment of Riley Elementary School participated in a special Christmas program presented at the school Tuesday night.

Each room, from kindergarten to the sixth-grade, participated in the choral readings and Christmas music. The entire program was under the direction of Miss Fern Miller and the individual classes were directed by their teachers.

A trio of youngsters, Kenton Hill, Joe Glick and Bruce Young, sang a special number. Miss Fern Miller accompanied the young singers at the piano.

An open house was held at the school following the program.

William Wisherd Services Friday

Services for William Edward Wisherd, 62, 3225 So. 46th, will be at 2 p.m. Friday at Roper & Sons, Chaplain T. R. Jones officiating.

Mr. Wisherd, a retired department store employee, died Tuesday at Veterans Hospital. Born in Adams, Neb., he had lived in Lincoln 44 years.

He served with the Engineers during World War I and was a member of American Legion Post 3.

Surviving are his wife, Alta, and sisters, Ethel and Maude Wisherd, both of Lincoln, and Zelma Wisherd of Napa, Calif. Burial will be in Wyuka.

John Park, Central City sophomore, was in charge of the service.

Man Living Quietly In Nebraska City As Sign Painter Faces Return To Pen

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb. (AP)—A 54-year-old man, who lived here quietly with his wife and worked as a sign painter, was being held Tuesday for return to Southern Michigan Penitentiary, from which he escaped in February.

Police Chief Clarence Iversen said the man, Charles Gatecliff, had agreed to sign extradition papers and probably would be returned to Jackson, Mich., the end of this week.

Iversen said Gatecliff, known here as Jack Murphy, broke down under long questioning and admitted escaping from the prison farm Feb. 23 after serving 15 years for larceny by conversion.

Gatecliff began working for a sign painting and installing company here last August. Until Nov. 16, he and his wife lived in Lincoln, Michigan Penitentiary officials and the identification information "checked."

His wife, the chief said, was "shocked" by the disclosure. She had thought her husband had been paroled from prison. She is a former nurse at St. Joseph, Mo., Iversen added.

Gatecliff, during questioning, admitted being the father of three children by a previous marriage, Iversen said. Gatecliff said he didn't know their whereabouts.

Iversen said Gatecliff admitted his identity only when confronted with a "wanted" bulletin which contained both his picture and information about him. The chief said he had talked to Southern Michigan Penitentiary officials and the identification information "checked."

Gatecliff last was reported seen at the prison farm, where he worked as a trustee, at 2:45 a.m. Feb. 23, the chief said. An hour later, he was reported missing.

Gatecliff, during questioning, admitted being the father of three children by a previous marriage, Iversen said. Gatecliff said he didn't know their whereabouts.

Iversen said Gatecliff admitted his identity only when confronted with a "wanted" bulletin which

There was not sufficient time for them to start suit in district court.

Five Weeping Water residents signed the petition.

Highway 50 now goes through Weeping Water. The Highway Department proposes to re-locate the road two miles to the west on more level ground.

The court last Saturday refused to accept an original action in the matter.

But an additional showing, setting out reasons why the court should accept the case, was on file Tuesday.

Attorneys for the opponents pointed out that with the project listed for Thursday's letting,

Beck Asks Grant Tax Hike OK

Assessment Case Brief Filed With High Court

Atty. Gen. C. S. Beck in a brief filed Tuesday urged the State Supreme Court to uphold action last summer by the State Board of Equalization which raised assessments in Grant County.

The county went to court after the state board raised farm land assessments 135 per cent and town lots 126 per cent in that county.

There is nothing in the record upon which the county can sustain a claim that the state board violated any statutory requirement, the brief said.

Required Hearing Held

It concluded: "The state board held the required hearing, having given proper notice in advance thereof; there is no showing that any of the valuations determined by the board do not represent actual value; there is no showing that equality between counties was

Air Mail for Santa Claus

Igloo, North Pole,
Dec. 16

DEAR CHILDREN:

Since I found my Magic Lamp my work has been so easy that I am about caught up with making Christmas presents. So I decided last night to take the reindeer and my sleigh up in the air for a run.

Oh, it is wonderful to fly through the air in my beautiful red sled behind the eight dashing, dancing, prancing, rushing reindeer! How they love it, too: The air is so cold and clear, and the ground below is so white and glistening bright! Up in the sky the stars wink at me as we go by, and the Man in the Moon waves, and calls, "Good Luck, Santa! Good Luck, Santa!"

I took a long ride last night. The reindeer were in fine fettle—whatever that is—and I felt very jolly myself. The bells on the deer jingled, and put me in the mood for singing. So I opened my mouth and sang at the top of my heart. I sang, "Up on the House-Top," "Jingle Bells," "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town," and dozens of other time and time songs. Did any of you hear me?

As we flew along I looked down on the earth and what a pretty sight it was! Millions of little lights were shining from the houses and the streets and the Christmas trees. They twinkled like little jewels—rubies, sapphires, emeralds and diamonds. Bless the little children, I cried to the night. Bless all the people everywhere!

Then low in the east I saw a very bright star. It made me think of the star that shone over the Christ child's manger so long ago. And I began to sing, very softly, "Away in the Manger." The reindeer changed their gait, moving through the air so easily that not a bell on their harness made a sound. Around and around we went. And finally I sang, soft and low, "Silent Night," and then I turned the reindeer home.

Love,
Santa Claus

Assessment increases handed them by the state board.

The court is expected to hear oral arguments in the cases next month.

Transport Driver Has Lucky Break

OMAHA (AP) Lucky timing was a big help to a Fremont gasoline transport driver when fire broke out in his truck engine.

Leslie LeCrone of Fremont was driving the truck past a fire station at 26th and L Streets when he noticed the fire caused by a short in wiring.

LeCrone ran into the station for help, Battalion Chief Stanley Lanoha said, and the trouble was quickly overcome.

The tanks of the Herman Oil Company truck were empty, the chief said.

There are no clues yet as to who held up the Arthur Murray, but I hear police are looking for four bandits who tango divinely. *

QUIRKS

SUMTER, S. C. (AP)—Billy Lane's popcorn popped with a bang, sending the 10-year-old youngster to a physician for treatment.

He said he had walked into a movie with a bag of popcorn in one hand and torpedoes in the other. Inadvertently, he dropped the torpedoes into the bag.

Excited by the movie, he bit down on a torpedo. It exploded, slightly injuring his mouth.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some white collar federal workers are cleaning up their own offices as a result of the government's economy drive.

Fifty of them dropped their desk chores for 20 minutes at Bolling Air Force Base and cleaned windows, dusted blinds and swept floors.

They had a memo from their boss suggesting the office ought to be kept clean even though there wasn't money to hire enough janitors.

But the Murrays have made more out of fancy footwork than Dempsey in his prime.

They got so many people swaying and swaying that the safest place in the hall at a big dance now is the rafters... and that somebody is apt to throw a girl up and hit you.

I was at a dance the other night where a fellow spun a girl so violently she whirled out the door and next appeared in a ball room two blocks away and still spinning.

But there's nothing like the modern dance for those who miss two plateau football.

Los Angeles (AP)—A city-wide pall of dust borne on an inland wind prompted City Councilman Harold Harry to propose that on such days the word "smog" (Smoke and fog) give way to a new one: smunkt.

Market Recovery Heartens Brokers

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market staged a good recovery drive late in the session Tuesday, but despite the rise there was considerable softness apparent in the list at the close.

Nonetheless, brokers were heartened by the strength underlying the list which has declined in six of the past eight sessions with Tuesday's market counted as unchanged on average.

At this stand now, the market is off around 20 per cent from the best levels attained in the recovery drive up from the year's low of mid-September. It is felt that the market is confident that the market can complete the current phase of consolidation in time to start its traditional rally with market week.

There was no particular news to influence the market. A number of key issues traded little or remained unchanged.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed unchanged at $105.00. It was off 30 cents Monday. The industrial component advanced 10 cents while the utilities declined 20 cents.

Volume came to 1,350,000 shares Monday, down from 1,400,000 shares Monday.

Prices were firm in the American Stock Exchange trading came to 190,000 shares as compared with 500,000 shares Monday.

Mayors Ask Federal Determination Of Roles In City Atom War Protection

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mayors of the nation's big cities called Tuesday for a new determination at the top level of government as to just what role federal, state and local authorities are expected to play in protecting cities should atomic war come.

A resolution calling for such a review by the National Security Council was adopted almost unanimously by the 175 mayors and city managers at the end of the two-day White House conference on civil defense and related problems.

Federal Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson, who presided at the closing session, said the role of the various levels of government seemed clear to him in the light of studies already made.

He agreed, however, to ask his fellow members on the Security Council—the nation's top defense planning agency—to spell it out once for all in A-B-C fashion.

The two-day meeting, first of its kind ever held, was conducted behind closed doors but mayors and civil defense officials told reporters what finally was decided after a series of off-the-record briefings by Vice President Nixon and other government leaders.

Peterson, following the policy outlined by President Eisenhower in opening the conference Monday, contended the basic responsibility for protecting key
